In case you had not seen this during the furlough, here is an article you may find interesting: <https://www.sfchronicle.com/bayarea/article/U-S-sues-Tetra-Tech-over-Hunters-Point-shipyard-13536013.php>

Here is an excerpt of the article:

"In various public forums over the past year, Tetra Tech representatives have argued that the subsidiary handling radiological work at Hunters Point (Tetra Tech EC) and the parent company (Tetra Tech Inc.) are separate, and one is not necessarily responsible for the other. However, in other contexts, company attorneys have said the opposite. In a 2017 filing against the federal government alleging breach of contract on a project to build facilities for the Customs and Border Protection agency in North Dakota, Tetra Tech argued that "routine business practices" of Tetra Tech Inc. and Tetra Tech EC were "taken on behalf and at the direction of the other in their roles as parent and wholly-owned subsidiary, and as business units of the same company." The judge agreed."
